JAP ATTITUDE IS PUZZLE TO ARMS MEET

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — The precise attitude of Japan is becoming more and more the big interrogation point of the arms conference.

When the delegates of the nine nations assembled again today to talk about the Far East, it was Japan to whom they looked for the hint that would reveal just what trend is to be taken by the negotiations as they affect China.

In the same way, and perhaps with an interest even more intense, the naval experts of the powers were pondering Japan's request for an increase in her proportional naval strength, and were wondering whether she would raise a direct issue with the United States by proposing material changes.

All the other national groups were ready to make a general declaration of their positions, but among them all there was apparent a feeling that since China had presented a detailed "bill of rights," the next word belonged to Japan because she was the nation most interested.

The naval question remained meantime outside the realm of actual negotiation with the experts of the five powers working independently to develop their naval viewpoints. But it was a live subject in the minds of delegates and technical advisers, all of whom attached great importance to the announcement that the United States would stand determinedly against alteration of the basic ratio of her plan.

COLD WAVE DUE TO HIT OHIO TONIGHT

Freezing weather in the west, Mr. Alexander pointed out, has extended to Central Texas. A high pressure area over the Missouri valley, which means a temperature drop, is rapidly moving south and east, he said.

BILL JONES TRADE IDEA HOLDS

Many Big Business Men Frown
on Improved Methods

STICK TO RULE-OF-THUMB

No New Practical Pointers Acceptable to These Giants

(BY B. C. FORBES)

NEW YORK — (Special) — When the most famous of the early steel makers of America, Captain Bill Jones, first received (from the Pennsylvania Railroad) a chemical formula for improving the quality of steel rails, he was extremely annoyed and remarked contemptuously, "This here chemistry will ruin the steel business." No steel plant today could be conducted without knowledge of chemistry. Rule-of-thumb methods are entirely out of date.

Yet most big business men still take the Bill Jones attitude in conducting their enterprises, they poo-poo the science and the students of economics, and smugly imagine that their rule-of-thumb way of conducting business is the only successful way. Captain Bill Jones is ridiculed the idea of anyone being able to improve the ingredients going into the making of steel rails. Because of knowledge of chemicals.

Many of our industrial and even our financial giants similarly ridicule the idea of any students of economics being able to give them any useful practical pointers to help them to run their affairs more successfully. These men are just as foolishly shortsighted as Captain Bill was.

The article printed here the other day giving a highbrow's portrayal of big business men, engrossed solely in money-making as the misguided humans who busy themselves solely with doing the country's chores, its kitchen work appears to have stirred up a lot of thought and discussion. Among the comments received is one from a nationally-known student of economics and finance, a man who has made his mark—and a reasonable amount of money—in the world of practical affairs. He knows a vast number of the nation's industrial, financial and commercial leaders. He knows them well. He knows how they run things. He knows how their minds work.

What he says is so rich in helpful suggestions, so urgently needed to be heeded by our men of large affairs and so very timely that its publication will not only arouse interest but is certain to awaken at least a number of business men to the advisability of their taking definite action.

The writer says in part: "I cannot resist the temptation to write after reading your column this morning (November 15). One of the things that tries my soul is the frequently-not snobbish attitude of the part of men who have been successful in the mere making of money toward the thinkers and students, or as they love to call them, the theorists of the world. The successful industrial and financial leader very often becomes so swollen with the pride of achievement that his vision is utterly distorted as to the real thing of life, and he loves to look with scorn upon the intellectual workers, whether they be chemists, engineers, economists, publicists or scientists in any other form. He finds great sport in belittling their achievements and scoffing at their importance in the scheme of life. Yet we all know that behind every human achievement somewhere lies a thinker who first saw the vision."

"If our so-called successful men would give more weight to the work of the thinkers and the analysts and the students, they would make fewer mistakes themselves, but whenever a proposition is advanced by a student it is always called into the question as probably the impractical vapors of a theorist, and not sound."

"In the spring of 1919, for instance, at a gathering up-town, Mr. Vanderbilt in an address foretold the happenings of 1919 and 1920 with almost one hundred percent accuracy. He made at that time a statement I remember, that selling the market short would be an investment for widows and orphans. I repeated this conviction to some of my practical friends and was almost hooted out of court for my temerity. All were riding on the full tide of speculation and would listen to no more words from the thinkers and speakers."

It is difficult enough to make headway in business nowadays even after taking advantage of every available aid. Why wilfully grope in the dark if light, even the light of a feeble, flickering light, can be reached out for and acquired?"

Biteman, in the Shockey cemetery, three miles south of Westminster, and that monuments costing $400 each be erected at the graves of Biteman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Biteman, in Westminster cemetery. Mrs. Eliza J. Stevenson, sister of Biteman, is to decide kind of monument to be erected.

Mrs. May Stevenson-Hilly is given privilege of purchasing the 175 acres of land owned by her uncle and he designates the payments she and her brother Ross are given $300 each under the will and Mrs. Grace Stevenson-Lovejoy, another niece is given $800.

Mrs. Lepley is named in the will as executrix. The estate will probably be valued at more than $25,000. The will consists of the original document and of two codicils attached. It is one of the most intricate documents filed in court in some months.

NO DANGER FROM STREET HUMPS

Swollen Wood Blocks in High-st
Cannot "Explode"

"Humps" on W. High-st are not dangerous, according to Vaughn Miller, city engineer Saturday. The "humps" a few in number at first, increased rapidly and on Saturday there were at least eight or nine while more were in progress of hatching. Although they present a peculiar appearance for any self-respecting street to assume, they are really nothing more nor less than a swelling of the wood paving blocks.

The wood block paving on W. High-st was laid when the weather was damp. Before completing the contract snow fell and the pitch filling used to cement the joints together between the blocks did not fill all the joints. The outer fibre of the blocks dried, then this fall when damp weather came, they got wet and swelled. That is all there is to the thing, said Miller Saturday.

There is no danger of the humps' exploding. They may be forced far enough upward to collapse in a jumble in the street, but the idea that windows may be shattered and people injured is scoffed at by Miller. The contractor who laid the blocks will get on the job again Monday and do it over, Miller said.

Meanwhile the family of "humps" is growing steadily. Traffic on W. High-st between the first alley west of Main and Elizabeth-sts is blocked off.

YOU ARE VERY MUCH ALL RIGHT—MISS 1921

(BY RUTH AGNES ABELING.)

CLEVELAND, O. — (Special) — Why, there's nothing at all the matter with modern girls, unless it is that they aren't appreciated quite enough.

That from a woman who is with girls all day long, from a woman who knows they roll down their stockings and hem up their dresses, slip out of back doors after "lights out" even scampers down fire escapes and forget the hour they promised to be in.

It was Mrs. Grace Conger, home secretary of the Cleveland Y. W. C. A. who said it.

"You know, I think girls are wonderful," she continued. "They can do ten things today where a few years ago they couldn't do anything. They are really making sane use of the freedom they have been given—or which they wrested from the hands of their elders."

I remember when I stayed at this very Y. W. myself," Mrs. Conger smiled. Reminiscence, with her colorful voice and vital, youthful face, is amusingly incongruous. "It was rather a quiet place," she went on, "and evenings we were all 'hooped in to pre-meetings."

"Now-a-days out—I don't like the word uplift—but anyway, our spiritually constructive work is done so much more attractively. Camp fires, walks in the woods, swimming—it's all so interwoven with the spiritual that separation is impossible."

"And you'd be surprised at the really high ideals and fine ideas the young employed girl has." It was still the voice of this woman who knows girls so well.

"Quite a while ago a little girl—one of the real flapper type pretty and attractive, but no one would imagine she had any terribly serious ideas, was having a little tinical trouble."

"She came to talk it over one afternoon—do you know that she had everything, every cent she spent, down in a little book? There was a world of admiration for the little unnamed girl in Mrs. Conger's tone. "And she had worked out a

SHIP JUST LAUNCHED TO BE SCRAPPED

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. — (By Associated Press) — The battleship West Virginia, representing the highest development of American naval construction, was launched today at 11:30 a. m. from the ways of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company.

NEW SHIP DOOMED
WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — Launched as one of the proudest and greatest battleships ever designed by the American navy, to be scrapped within a few months, appeared to be the fate of the super-dreadnaught West Virginia today, when she slipped from the ways of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company.

The American naval reduction plan as presented to the armament conference provides for the scrapping of the West Virginia. If the American plan is agreed to, the dreadnaught today about sixty-two percent complete, will never be finished and never plow the seas bearing the Stars and Stripes.

TORTOISE SHELL
Tortoise shell becomes dull in the course of time and no amount of ordinary cleaning will brighten it. But a brilliant polish can be obtained in this way. Mix a little stone with sweet oil being sure that there are no hard pieces of stone left. Rub the shell with the substance and then polish gently with soft leather to which jeweler's rouge has been added.

A TEA HINT
The English have a trick of making tea with milk instead of water when they want a drink which is especially refreshing. The milk is boiled in a sauce pan, the sun warmed and then the usual amount of tea put in it. The milk is poured over it just as water is. It is ready to pour after standing three minutes.

SALAD COMBINATION
Pineapple sliced, halved hard grapes and sliced ripe peaches make an excellent combination for salad.

Have you ever the little crystal bells fashioned after those used by the beauties of the eighteenth century? They're nice sick room gifts. Their crystal tinkle when an attendant is to be called is pleasant to hear.

FOCH LAYS STONE FOR ART HOME

NEW YORK — (By Associated Press) — The American academy of Arts and Letters, the cornerstone of whose new building was laid today by "the nation's council of literature and art," Hamlin Garland, novelist and playwright, said it can be counted upon to support every movement for elevating American ideals of living, for preserving the beauties of nature and for upholding the permanent standards of art.

Marshal Foch appeared as the central figure at the dedication ceremonies after he had received the honorary degree of doctor of laws from Columbia University. He figured, not as a soldier, but as a delegate of the French Academy, founded nearly 300 years ago.

The laying of the cornerstone today brought to fruition the dreams of a group of leaders of American art and letters who laid the foundations of the present academy in 1904 when they formed the National Institute of Arts and Letters. The present academy is chartered by the federal government.

HORNER, RESIGNED ILL AT HOME

Lima Man Leaves Post of Assistant Adjutant General

KERR DENIES RETIREMENT

Troop E. Shortage Plays No Part in Withdrawal

Lieutenant Colonel Harry C. Horner, of Lima, assistant adjutant general of Ohio national guard, has resigned, it was announced Saturday by Adjutant General George Florence at Columbus.

Horner's resignation, according to national guard officers was tendered two weeks ago, to become effective November 15.

Denial was made Saturday that Horner's resignation had any connection with the shortage of military equipment recently investigated here. Horner, prior to becoming assistant adjutant general was in command of Troop E, Lima, and was engaged in the shoe business here on W. Market-st.

EQUIPMENT DISAPPEARS

While acting as captain of Troop E Equipment valued at $2,500 disappeared. Several members of the troop were arrested at various times. A large part of the missing property was later accounted for when the report of Colonel Charles B. Orwig, report of Colonel John Bingham, Investigator John Bingham, Investigator, was filed. As commanding officers, Horner was held accountable for property stolen by others.

A survey to straighten up the balance was made afterward, it is stated.

Horner returned to Lima Friday, but it was announced from his home, 512 S. Charles-st. that he is ill and a statement could not be secured from him.

According to national guard officers in Lima, the shortage of Troop E property had nothing to do with Horner's resignation.

Horner's rise in national guard affairs, commencing in 1916, has been very rapid. His position as assistant adjutant general, carrying with it the full pay and allowances authorized in the army, it is believed aroused the envy of the older and more experienced officers in the guard.

Horner is 27 years of age and returned from the world war with the rank of first lieutenant. He organized Troop E and was commissioned a captain.

In connection with Horner's resignation, Captain Kenneth Kerr, commanding Troop E, declared that he was in no wise concerned.

With the exception of one troop, every organization in the 107th Cavalry, he said Saturday, is short in equipment. One troop is short $2,100.

KERR HAS NOT RESIGNED

A shortage of $227 exists in Troop E, the missing supplies being charged on the re-equipment records of the enlisted personnel, Kerr said. The amount was fixed, Kerr stated by Colonel Rell G. Allen, judge advocate, who was in Lima inspecting Troop E November 16 and 17. The record made by Troop E during the inspection will cause it to be retained in Lima, Kerr believes. It is one of the best drilled organizations in the state.

Captain Kerr stated that he has not resigned and will not do so and that should his command be discontinued he will retain his commission and serve on the regimental staff.

Adjutant General Florence stated Saturday Horner's successor has not been named.

State Will Give Help in Mapping Out Allen-co Road Plans

The Allen-co good roads program will be successfully consummated, provided the county will immediately provide its share of expense and quick action is taken in turning over plans and specifications to the state highway department, it was announced Saturday after the return of the Lima delegation which met State Highway Commissioner Herrick, in Columbus. Definite answer must be returned by the county by Wednesday, November 23.

The state is ready to furnish $300,000 provided an equal amount is raised by Allen-co. Herrick told members of the delegation.

"Allen-co is the third country to report and you may have what you want; now what is it?" he asked the committee Friday.

"You will get money if this office gets quick action and I will certify the $300,000 Allen-co roads bonds with Allen-co on a 50-50 basis. The state highway department will furnish $300,000, Allen-co will provide $300,000," Herrick said.

J. P. Shumaker, district state road engineer and County Road Engineer Toy promised to have all plans and specifications drawn up and in the state highway office by December 15. This will complete all preliminary work for the Harding and Dixie Highway projects. Shumaker will offer the service of one of his engineers to aid Toy in order to speed up the work, he announced.

Members of the county road commission practically assured Herrick that Allen-co will be able to meet the demand and that both money and specifications will be in the state highway office in the shortest time possible.

The plan means that all links in the Harding and Dixie Highways will be sold at the January road sales at that work will start early in the spring.

If the entire program goes through, Allen-co will receive practically twice as much state aid next spring and summer as it has since the state federal aid act became effective in 1914, it was announced Saturday.

ERRIFIC FIGHT AGAINST PAPKE

WILL YOUNG BOB FITZ EQUAL DEEDS OF FAMOUS DAD?

(BY BILLY EVANS.)
Is young Bob Fitzsimmons going to be a chip of the old block? Every fistic fan who has seen the gladiator in action, or read of his many valorous deeds, knows what it means.

Bob Fitzsimmons is dead, but his fistic deeds will live on forever. No greater fighter at his weight ever lived. He feared no man. Even when he held the heavyweight title he was a legitimate middleweight.

"The bigger they are, the 'arder they fall." It was the late Bob Fitzsimmons who coined that phrase, and lived up to it. He was finally beaten by the younger and stronger Jeffries. Father Time had considerable to do with each knockout suffered at the hands of the giant Jeffries. However, in one of the bouts, the old fellow handed Jeffries a terrific lacing before he was knocked out.

Some weeks ago one Fay Keiser gained fame over night, by soundly trouncing Bob Martin, who was being groomed to meet Jack Dempsey. It was a big surprise to the fistic world. A few weeks later, lovers of boxing were treated to another upset, young Bob Fitzsimmons, son of old Bob, decisively beat Keiser. The victory won much praise for the youngster.

Young Bob Fitzsimmons is a clean cut, good looking chap. A certain critic in discussing the youngster, said he was much better looking than his dad. That is hardly fair to young Bob, as the old fellow had no more claim to beauty than has Nick Albrook, and Nick admits he is no matinee idol. Any one who saw old Bob in action will readily recall the funny legs, the sea of freckles and the bald head.

Fitzsimmons' greatest asset was his hitting power. "Ruby Robert" figured he could defeat any fighter he could hit, and he usually managed to hit 'em. His hands finally went bad on him, but before they turned to chalk, Bob carried a knockout punch in either hand that had only to travel a few inches to turn the trick.

Strangely enough, young Bob seems to lack the thing that made his father famous, the sleep-producing wallop. Young Bob is perhaps more scientific than his dad was in his prime, but the old "kayo" seems lacking. In this respect nature appears to have played a peculiar prank.

Ohio State And Illinois Ready For Big Battle

At the expiration of the old contract, Henry W. Savage, the first developed more stage stars and other American producer, submitted the manuscript of "Cornered" to Miss Kennedy with the suggestion that if she liked the play and the part he would welcome her as a star under his management. Upon the first reading Miss Kennedy exclaimed:

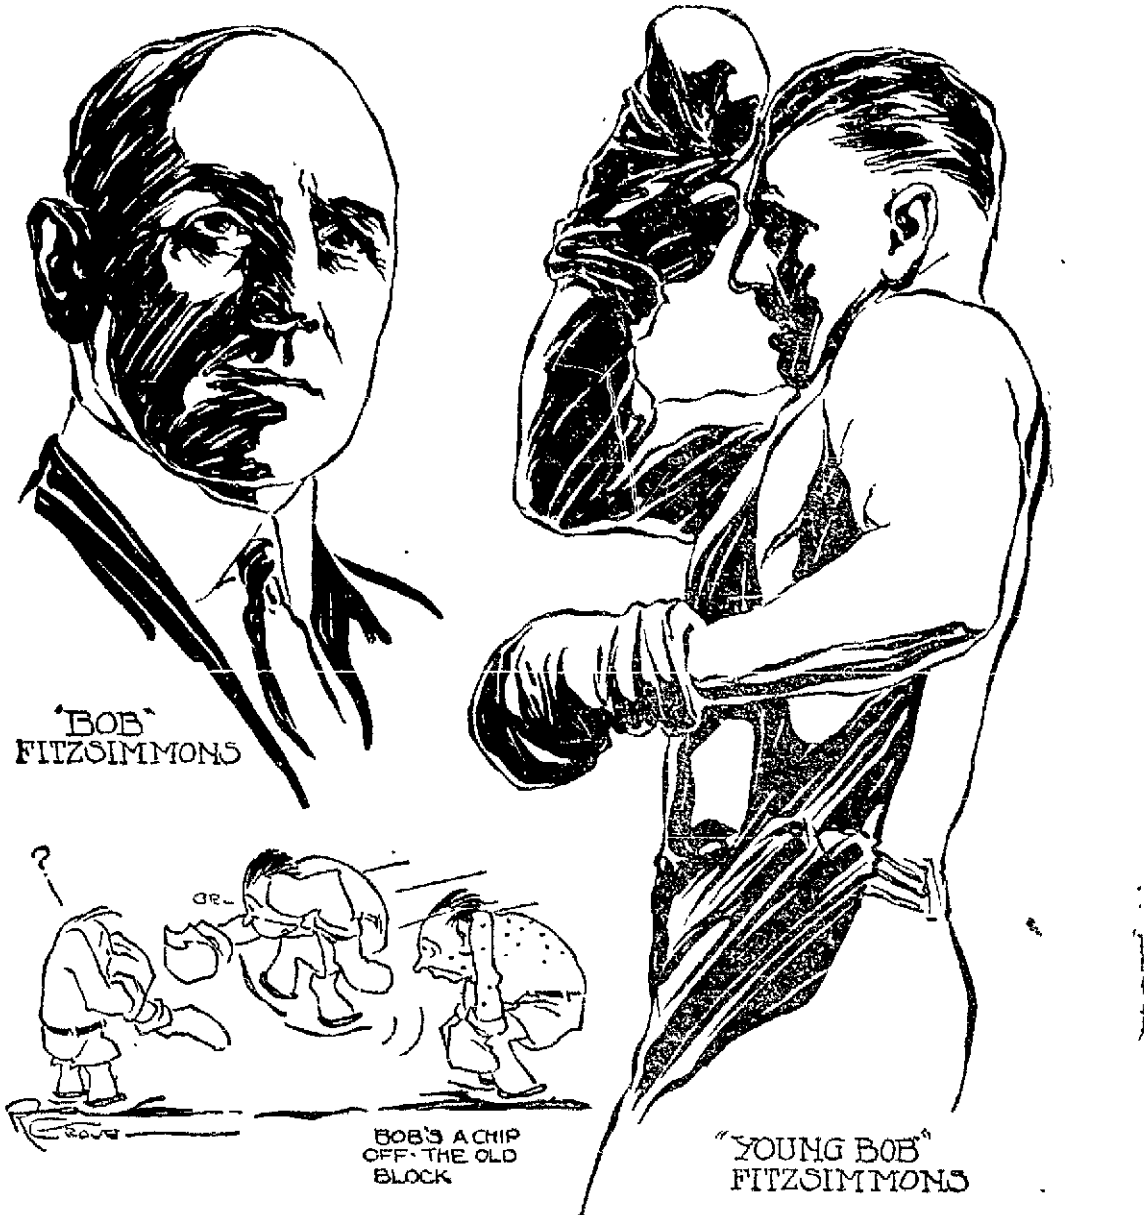

"I have used Foley's Honey and Tar for the past 20 years and find there is no other cough or croup remedy like it. You may use my name. It gets right at the seat of trouble. Children like it. Chas. J. Vorkamp, Main and McKibben Sts.—Adv.

SEE KNOWS AFTER 20 YEARS

Mrs. Milton White, Box 32, Azalia, Mich., writes: "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar for the past 20 years and find there is no other cough or croup remedy like it. You may use my name. It gets right at the seat of trouble. Children like it. Chas. J. Vorkamp, Main and McKibben Sts.—Adv.

Ohio State May Claim Big Ten Championship Over Iowa Eleven

COLUMBUS — If Ohio State defeats Illinois and Iowa defeats Northwestern in their final games of the season Saturday, the Buckeyes will claim the 1921 championship of the Western Conference. Unless defeated today, both Iowa and Ohio State will have won every conference game played this season.

HAVE THEIR VIEWS

Despite the tie, Ohio State will claim the championship because it won the 1920 championship. The claim is made that the 1920 championship will be retained in view of the fact that Ohio State was not defeated this season by a Big Ten team.

Another reason for the Buckeye claim to the championship this year is that Iowa defeated only second rate conference teams, while all of the teams defeated by Ohio State finished in the first division, in the conference percentage standing.

On the other hand, some critics claim the championship for but a cause of Ohio State's defeat weighed last season by Oberlin, a team that was defeated by Ohio State. Blood Medicine and your Liver. Everybody tells me how well I look and asks me what I took and I always say, "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the best medicine in the world for any sickness to which girls and women are subject." I will always have a good word for your medicine and you may use my name whenever you wish."

—Mrs. JOSEPH WILLIAM, 722 South 9th Street, Hamilton, Ohio.

HARVARD IS BEST, SAYS BROWN COACH

"HARVARD has the best team in the east." That is the sizeup of the Crimson eleven by Ed Robinson, head coach at Brown University.

"Princeton was lucky to defeat Harvard," continues Robinson, "the Tigers were outplayed during the greater part of the game." That statement will probably tend to bind relations all the tighter between Brown and Harvard, but it isn't going to make much of a hit with the Princeton men.

"Harvard looked like the better coached and trained team in the Princeton game, but Princeton won because one of those long uncertain forward passes went thru."

A lot of people are going to disagree with what Coach Robinson of Brown says.

BILL JONES TRADE IDEA HOLDS

Many Big Business Men Frown
on Improved Methods

STICK TO RULE-OF-THUMB

No New Practical Pointers Acceptable to These Giants

(BY B. C. FORBES)

NEW YORK — (Special) — When the most famous of the early steel makers of America, Captain Bill Jones, first received (from the Pennsylvania Railroad) a chemical formula for improving the quality of steel rails, he was extremely annoyed and remarked contemptuously, "this here chemistry will ruin the steel business." No steel plant today could be conducted without knowledge of chemistry. Rule-of-thumb methods are entirely out of date.

Yet most big business men still take the Bill Jones attitude in conducting their enterprises, they poo-poo the science and the students of economics, and smugly imagine that their rule-of-thumb way of conducting business is the only successful way. Captain Bill Jones ridiculed the idea of anyone being able to improve the ingredients going into the making of steel rails, because of knowledge of chemicals.

Many of our industrial and even our financial giants similarly ridicule the idea of any students of economics being able to give them any useful practical pointers to help them to run their affairs more successfully. These men are just as foolishly shortsighted as Captain Bill was.

The article printed here the other day giving a highbrow's portrayal of big business men, engrossed solely in money-making as the misguided humans who busy themselves solely with doing the country's chores, its kitchen work appears to have stirred up a lot of thought and discussion. Among the comments received is one from a nationally-known student of economics and finance, a man who has made his mark—and a reasonable amount of money—in the world of practical affairs. He knows a vast number of the nation's industrial, financial and commercial leaders. He knows them well. He knows how they run things. He knows how their minds work.

What he says is so rich in helpful suggestions, so urgently needed to be heeded by our men of large affairs and so very timely that its publication will not only arouse interest but is certain to awaken at least a number of business men to the advisability of their taking definite action.

The writer says in part:

"I cannot resist the temptation to write after reading your column this morning (November 15). One of the things that tries my soul is the frequently-not snobbish attitude of the part of men who have been successful in the mere making of money toward the thinkers and students, or as they love to call them, the theorists of the world. The successful industrial and financial leader very often becomes so swollen with the pride of achievement that his vision is utterly distorted as to the real thing of life, and he loves to look with scorn upon the intellectual workers, whether they be chemists, engineers, economists, publicists or scientists in any other form. He finds great sport in belittling their achievements and scoffing at their importance in the scheme of life. Yet we all know that behind every human achievement somewhere lies a thinker who first saw the vision."

"If our so-called successful men would give more weight to the work of the thinkers and the analysts and the students, they would make fewer mistakes themselves, but whenever a proposition is advanced by a student it is always called into the question as probably the impractical vapors of a theorist, and not sound."

"In the spring of 1919, for instance, at a gathering up-town, Mr. Vanderbilt in an address foretold the happenings of 1919 and 1920 with almost one hundred percent accuracy. He made at that time a statement I remember, that selling the market short would be an investment for widows and orphans. I repeated this conviction to some of my practical friends and was almost hoisted out of court for my temerity. All were riding on the high tide of speculation and would listen to no more words from the thinkers and speakers."

It is difficult enough to make headway in business nowadays even after taking advantage of every available aid. Why willfully grope in the dark if light, even the feeble, flickering light, can be reached out for and acquired?

William A. Biteman Leaves Money
For Minister

Faithful work of Mary Blaine, for 38 years an employee of the William A. Biteman family in Auglaize-up, was rewarded in the will of Biteman, probated in court Saturday, when she was given $2,000 in money by her former employer.

The money is to be paid at the rate of $500 a year. In all that time she has resided with the family and worked as domestic. After the death of Biteman's wife, she continued to remain there and made a home for him until his death. She is also given such household goods as she may select, for her own.

Woodlawn cemetery association, Lima, where Biteman and his second wife are buried, was given $300, income of which is to be devoted to placing flowers upon the two graves.

The Methodist Protestant church at Westminster is given $500 to pay for support of a minister there. The amount of $50 a year is to be paid towards this purpose.

PROVIDES FOR MONUMENTS

Biteman designated that a monument costing $400, be erected at the grave of his first wife, Sarah A. Biteman, in the Shockey cemetery, three miles south of Westminster, and that monuments costing $400 each be erected at the graves of Biteman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Biteman, in Westminster cemetery. Mrs. Eliza J. Stevenson, sister of Biteman, is to decide kind of monument to be erected.

Mrs. May Stevenson-Hilly is given privilege of purchasing the 135 acres of land owned by her uncle and he designates the payments. She and her brother Ross, are given $300 each under the will and Mrs. Grace Stevenson-Lepley, another niece, is given $800.

Mrs. Lepley is named in the will as executrix. The estate will probably be valued at more than $25,000. The will consists of the original document and of two codicils attached. It is one of the most intricate documents filed in court in some months.

NO DANGER FROM STREET HUMPS

Swollen Wood Blocks in High-st
Cannot "Explode"

"Humps" on W. High-st are not dangerous, according to W. August Miller, city engineer, Saturday.

The "humps", a few in number at first, increased rapidly and on Saturday there were at least eight or nine, while more were in progress of hatching. Although they present a peculiar appearance for any self-respecting street to assume, they are really nothing more nor less than a swelling of the wood paving blocks. That is:

"The wood block paving on W. High-st was laid when the weather was damp. Before completing the contract snow fell and the pitch filling used to cement the joints together between the blocks did not fill all the joints. The outer fibre of the blocks dried, then this fall when damp weather came, they got wet and swelled. That is all there is to the thing," said Miller Saturday.

There is no danger of the "humps" exploding. They may be forced far enough upward to collapse in a jumble in the street, but the idea that windows may be shattered and people injured is scoffed at by Miller.

The contractor who laid the blocks will get on the job again Monday and do it over, Miller said.

Meanwhile the family of "humps" is growing steadily. Traffic on W. High-st between the first alley west of Main and Elizabeth-sts is blocked off.

YOU ARE VERY MUCH ALL RIGHT—MISS 1921

(BY RUTH AGNES ABELING.)

CLEVELAND, O.—(Special) — "Why, there's nothing at all the matter with modern girls, unless it is that—they aren't appreciated quite enough!"

That from a woman who is with girls all day long; from a woman who knows they roll down their stockings and hem up their dresses, slip out of back doors after "lights out," even scamp down fire escapes and forget the hour they promised to be in.

It was Mrs. Grace Conger, home secretary of the Cleveland Y. W. C. A., who said it.

"You know, I think girls are wonderful!" she continued. "They can do ten things today where a few years ago they couldn't do anything. They are really making same use of the freedom they have been given—or which they wrested from the hands of their elders!"

"I remember when I stayed at this very Y. W. myself," Mrs. Conger smiled. Reminiscence, with her colorful words and vital, youthful face, is amusingly incongruous.

"It was rather a quiet place," she went on, "and evenings we were all shooed in to prayer meetings."

"Nowadays—oh—I don't like the word uplift—but anyway, our spiritual constructive work is done so much more attractively. Camp fires, walks in the woods, swimming—it's all so interwoven with the spiritual that separation is impossible."

"And you'd be surprised at the really high ideals and fine ideas the average employed girl has." It was still the voice of this woman who knows girls so well.

"Quite a while ago a little girl—one of our great finger type, pretty and attractive, but no one would imagine she had any terribly serious idios, was having a little financial trouble."

"She came to talk it over one afternoon—do you know that she had everything, every cent she spent, down in a little book? There was a world of admiration for the little unnamed girl in Mrs. Conger's tone. "And she had worked out a plan by which, paying just a little more than her weekly expenses on everything, she'd gradually get out of debt."

"Since then I've been slower than ever to blame girls. I take it for granted they're trying and most of the time they are."

"They have a condition to face, in supporting themselves, that boys do not—there is a slight prejudice against them in certain lines of business, and then there's always the possibility that they will marry. That in a sense works against them. It's different with a man. People, especially employers, scarcely generalize about men. Every man stands on his own ability."

"And so," continued Mrs. Conger, "I think, on the whole, that girls are wonderful."

FOCH LAYS STONE FOR ART HOME

NEW YORK — (By Associated Press)

The American academy of Arts and Letters, the cornerstone of whose new building was laid today by "the nation's council of literature and art." Hamlin Garland, novelist and playwright, said it can be counted upon to support every movement for elevating American ideals of living, for preserving the beauties of nature and for upholding the permanent standards of art.

Marshal Foch appeared as the central figure at the dedication ceremonies after he had received the honorary degree of doctor of laws from Columbia University. He figured, not as a soldier, but as a delegate of the French Academy, founded nearly 300 years ago.

The laying of the cornerstone today brought to fruition the dreams of a group of leaders of American art and letters who laid the foundations of the present academy in 1904 when they formed the National Institute of Arts and Letters. The present academy is chartered by the federal government.

HORNER, RESIGNED ILL AT HOME

Lima Man Leaves Post of Assistant Adjutant General

KERR DENIES RETIREMENT

Troop E. Shortage Plays No Part in Withdrawal

Lieutenant Colonel Harry C. Horner, of Lima, assistant adjutant general of Ohio national guard, has resigned, it was announced Saturday by Adjutant General George Pierce at Columbus.

Horner's resignation, according to national guard officers was tendered two weeks ago, to become effective November 15.

Denial was made Saturday that Horner's resignation had any connection with the shortage of military equipment recently investigated here. Horner, prior to becoming assistant adjutant general was in command of troop E, Lima, and was engaged in the shoe business here on W. Market-st.

EQUIPMENT DISAPPEARS

While acting as captain of Troop E equipment valued at $3,500 disappeared. Several members of the troop were arrested at various times. A large part of the missing property was later accounted for when the report of Colonel Charles B. Orwig, and Colonel John Bingham, investigators, was filed. As commanding officer, Horner was held accountable for property stolen by others.

A survey to straighten up the balance was made afterward, it is stated.

Horner returned to Lima Friday, and it was announced from his home, 312 S. Charles-st., that he is ill and a statement could not be secured from him.

According to national guard officers in Lima, the shortage of Troop E property had nothing to do with Horner's resignation.

Horner's rise in national guard affairs, commencing in 1916, has been very rapid. His position as assistant adjutant general, carrying with it the full pay and allowances authorized in the army, it is believed aroused the envy of the older and more experienced officers in the guard.

Horner is 27 years of age and returned from the world war with the rank of first lieutenant. He organized Troop E and was commissioned a captain.

In connection with Horner's resignation, Captain Kenneth Kerr, commanding Troop E, declared that he was in no wise concerned.

With the exception of one troop, every organization in the 107th Cavalry, he said Saturday, is short in equipment. One troop is short $2,100.

KERR HAS NOT RESIGNED

A shortage of $227 exists in Troop E, the missing supplies being charged on the re-equipment records of the enlisted personnel, Kerr said.

The amount was fixed, Kerr stated, by Colonel Rell G. Allen, judge advocate, who was in Lima inspecting Troop E November 16 and 17.

The record made by Troop E during the inspection will cause it to be retained in Lima, Kerr believes. It is one of the best drilled organizations in the state.

Captain Kerr stated that he has not resigned and will not do so and that should his command be disbanded he will retain his commission and serve on the regimental staff.

Adjutant General Florence stated Saturday Horner's successor has not been named.

State Will Give Help in Mapping Out Allen-co Road Plans

The Allen-co good roads program will be successfully consummated, provided the county will immediately provide its share of expense and quick action is taken in turning over plans and specifications to the state highway department, it was announced Saturday after the return of the Lima delegation which met State Highway Commissioner Herrick, in Columbus. Definite answer must be returned by the county by Wednesday, November 23.

The state is ready to furnish $300,000 provided an equal amount is raised by Allen-co. Herrick told members of the delegation.

"Allen-co is the third country to report and you may have what you want; now what is it?" he asked the committee Friday.

"You will get money if this office gets quick action and I will certify the $300,000 Allen-co roads bonds with Allen-co on a 50-50 basis. The state highway department will furnish $300,000, Allen-co will provide $300,000," Herrick said.

J. P. Shumaker, district state road engineer and County Road Engineer Toy promised to have all plans and specifications drawn up and in the state highway office by December 15. This will complete all preliminary work for the Harding and Dixie Highway projects. Shumaker will offer the service of one of his engineers to aid Toy in order to speed up the work, he announced.

Members of the county road commission practically assured Herrick that Allen-co will be able to meet the demand and that both money and specifications will be in the state highway office in the shortest time possible.

The plan means that all links in the Harding and Dixie Highways will be sold at the January road sales and that work will start early in the spring.

If the entire program goes thru as planned, Allen-co will receive practically twice as much state aid next spring and summer as it has since the state federal aid act became effective in 1914, it was announced Saturday.

CIGARMAKER HAS TOES MASHED IN DRAWBARS

Peter Vuco, 342 E. North-st., had the toes of his left foot smashed when the member was caught in the draw-bars of a freight car at the North-st crossing of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, Saturday morning.

Vuco is an employee of the south side factory of the Deisel-Wemmer company. He was on his way to work at 6.30 a. m. Saturday. A cut of freight cars stood across the railroad, obstructing the street.

Vuco decided to climb over the cars and save time. His foot was drawn in the draw-bars as the train was moved.

Age Occupation

There may be perfect blondes and perfect profiles, but Lou Cunningham says Madge Kennedy has the perfect wink. Miss Kennedy is starring in Henry W. Savage's production of "Cornered," which comes to Faurot opera house, today, matinee and night.

AT THE THEATRES

THE career of Miss Madge Kennedy who comes to Faurot this afternoon and tonight in "Cornered," is one of the most meteoric in history. At 16, Miss Kennedy, a student at a finishing school in California, decided to try a few weeks on the stage in a summer stock company. The same fall she came East with her mother and on a single rehearsal was engaged to play the leading role in the Western company of "Over Night." Before the end of the season she made her New York debut in "Little Miss Brown," establishing herself on the very first night of the opening as creator of a new type of ingenue-comedienne, which has since been copied and imitated by thousands of young American girls, both off and on the stage.

The distinct Madge Kennedy style of acting was developed and improved by its young creator in "Twin Beds" which she played for two seasons; followed by "Fair and Warner" in which she was starring with great success when she left the stage for the screen. As a film star, Miss Kennedy captivated her new public in the first film she completed "Baby Mine." During her three seasons in motion pictures her vogue increased tremendously and it was not long until she had a following second in size and devotion only to that of Mary Pickford.

At the expiration of her film contract, Henry W. Savage, who has developed more stage stars than any other American producer, submitted the manuscript of "Cornered" to Miss Kennedy with the suggestion that if she liked the play and the part he would welcome her as a star under his management. Upon the first reading Miss Kennedy exclaimed:

"SEE KNOWS AFTER 20 YEARS"

A cold, even when it has developed a hacking cough, difficult breathing, sleepless nights, raw throat and sore lungs—even then a cold yields quickly to Foley's Honey and Tar. Mrs. Milton White, Box 32, Azalia, Mich., writes: "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar for the past 20 years and find there is no other cough or cold remedy like it. You may use my name. It gets right at the seat of trouble. Children like it. Chas. J. Vorkamp, Main and McKibben Sts.—Adv."

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotics, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

YOUR POWER

TEARS come to the eyes of Marshal Foch, and for 10 minutes he forgets that he is at a banquet in Boston, as he talks to a war veteran, blinded in both eyes.

It is an admirable sidelight on the humane character of the greatest Frenchman, who was entrusted with the lives of 10,000,000 soldiers.

The blinded veteran is Lieutenant Guy Envin.

Like Foch, you pity him for his loss of sight.

Yet Envin is studying international law at Harvard, a task that is extremely difficult even to those with perfect sight. It is an inspiring instance of what man can accomplish, despite any handicap, if he keeps his fighting spirit alive.

BEN WELCH, the comedian, went blind a year ago. Did he become discouraged—give up the fight? No.

In the presence of witnesses, including the mayor of Providence, R. I., Welch burned his insurance disability policy that would have paid him $10,000 in a lump sum or $75 a week for the rest of his life.

Now Welch is traveling about the country, headlining in vaudeville, as in the old days. He even refuses to carry a cane.

A friend, dressed as a policeman, leads him out on the stage. Sitting on a bench, the famous comedian forgets that he is blind, and scares his audience with a rapid-fire of jests.

Blindness would make most of us downhearted. But Welch says that it has only made him more anxious to cheer up others.

"Life," says he, "is too short to quit working."

THE cases of Ben Welch and Lieutenant Envin should change the whole mental attitude of any man who has become discouraged by obstacles.

The great men of history became great, almost entirely because of the obstacles they overcame.

The most popular printed stories involve some form of contest—desperate chances, disheartening odds, seemingly insurmountable barriers.

The popularity of such stories proves that, in every person, there is the instinctive desire and the ability to overcome obstacles.

Don't be discouraged. Keep your fighting spirit. You can overcome anything if you so will. Obstacles are placed in your path to develop your powers. They are the gymnasium exercises of life, training you to handle big things.

A LONG LIFE

IF you want to live to be so old that no one can raise a question about you, eat solid, substantial food and walk as much as possible.

That is the sensible formula of F. F. Mekus, celebrating his 110th birthday anniversary at Defiance, Ohio.

His third ingredient is "plenty of pluck." Any other hobby will do. Takes a hobby to keep the mind and heart young.

FATHER'S WORK

RADCLIFFE COLLEGE checks up and finds that the fathers of its girl students represent 151 different lines of work. Fathers range from lawyers and doctors to cranberry farmers and horseshoers.

Rich or poor, the father never lived who did not say: "I want my child to start out with a better chance in life than I had."

Thus each generation advances higher, built up like a coral reef into better and better civilization.

Under the top layer, in nearly every case, are a father and mother who deny themselves to educate their children, giving them better weapons for the battle of life. Thoughtless children should give this occasional thought. If it were not for John and Mary, pa would smoke perfectos instead of stogies and ma would have more new dresses.

OHIO SCHOOL PUPILS

LIMA contributes several thousand children to Ohio's school population, which is said to be greater than one-fifth of the entire population of the state, figures in the office of Vernon M. Reigel, state commissioner of education, show.

There are few states in the Union that can show a greater ratio between the total population and school attendance, than Ohio, it is asserted by educators in touch with the situation.

According to positive figures, there are 1,100,000 students in public schools of the state today.

Of that number 150,000 are in high schools, about 30,000 in colleges and universities and more than 900,000 in common schools.

THE NEW MOVIES

ULTRA-RAPID movies, which show you fast action slowed down so all details can be watched, are being used to show boxers and golfers their defects.

The golfer who cannot understand why he misses the ball, quickly sees his defect when he watches a specially made ultra-rapid movie of himself.

U. S. IMPORTS

IN the first 10 months of this year, up to Nov. 1, imports of merchandise into the United States totaled $2,055,762,580. That compares with $2,044,021,908 in the corresponding 10 months of 1917, when prices were lower.

Something has gone wrong with the calculations of the men who predicted that America would become the dumping ground for a flood of foreign-made goods as soon as the war stopped.

THE SWITCH ENGINE

(BY DR. WM. E. BARTON.)

SOMETIMES travel, and I spend many nights subject to the tender mercies such as they be of the Pullman Company. And sometimes wake in the night when the train hath reached a junction.

And it happeneth often that a Switch Engine cometh up behind and catcheth hold of two or three cars and runneth away with them as though it were an Automobile Bandit. And it puffeth and it snorteth and it goeth fast, but it goeth not far.

For presently it runneth upon a side-track and leaveth a sleeper. And then it runneth over to another side-track and picketh up a sleeper. And sometimes it cutteth out a Chair-car, or taketh on a Diner. And these operations doth it perform with Commendable Industry, and no Undue Modesty.

And I have seen it snorteth about—It is up to me to make up this train in Twenty Minutes, and behold it ran in five minutes late, and the old man will be red in the face if he pull not out on time; therefore must I get sidings, and with much puffings and thrusts, and cut out two cars and set in three, and what happeneth unto the train after that belongeth not unto me, and I should weary.

Now this process fooleth the inexperienced Traveler. For he heareth the snorting and he feeleth the rapid motion, and he saith, Behold now are we Going Some. And just then his car bumpeth up against the Cedar Rapids sleeper, and driveth sleep from his eyes and slumber from his eyelids.

But this process fooleth me not. When the train stoppeth in the night, and we start up suddenly and with Rapid Motion, and with much snorting of the Engine, then know I that we are running down into the Yard with two or three cars, to pick up a sleeper from Oshkosh, or to leave one for Oconomowoc. And I prepare for the Bump.

Now there be good men who come to me to Promote good causes, and there be some who hook onto every new movement that pulleth into the Union Depot, and haul it up and down the main line and the adjacent sidings, and with much puffings and thence the near arrival of the Pullman. And these be Useful Men. I know not how without them we should make up our train of organization and achievement. But I am not wholly fooled by the waoop and huffah, neither do I altogether deceive myself with the Initial Speed of these divers and sundry enterprises.

I know that as yet we are not out of the Yard, and that when we really get going, and to pulling freight, it will be with a more solemn and sedate evidence of progress than is advertised when we are only picking up the sleeper from Kalamazoo.

For the Switch Engine, though it be a worthy and industrious and commendable Factor in Human Progress, is not that which furnisheth the sustained Power for the Long Grade and the Steady Pull.

Wherefore, when a good cause is saving, I applaud the speed with which we get under way. But I wait for the steeper and slower pull that doth certify that we are out on the Main Line, and actually moving toward our destination.

BIG CROWD ATTENDS LIMA GYM CLUB'S BOXING SHOW

Don Bowsher, Lima middleweight and claimant of the Ohio middleweight championship, outpointed Johnny Papke, of Superior, Wis., in the 10-round main go of the card staged at Memorial Hall Friday night by the Lima Gym Club.

Charley Maxwell, referee, called the bout a draw. This brought a roar of protest from the hundreds of fans who believed the Lima boy deserved the decision.

Papke entered the ring with a seven pound advantage over Bowsher. Before the fight had hardly started the Wisconsin lad fouled the Lima boy by a hard punch below the belt. He repeated this in the third, fifth and six rounds and twice in the eighth stanza.

Each of these apparent deliberate fouls caused ringside fans and many who could plainly see from the lower floor, to voice a protest.

FOULS ARE NOTICED

Papke was clever enough to slip in several low hits without the notice of the referee. Maxwell warned him once during the fight to watch his actions.

Bowsher tipped the scales at 153 pounds and Papke weighed 165 1/2. Papke was substituting for Joe Price, Cleveland and the Lima Boxing commission ruled that Bowsher could not claim the $75 forfeit since Papke's name did not appear on the contracts.

E. C. Sterline, Sidney, manager of Bowsher, was on the verge of refusing to permit his boy to enter the ring with Papke, but decided to do so when he saw that such action would disappoint hundreds of fans.

Papke started out strong in the first round and led the fighting most of the way. He landed terrific rights and lefts to Bowsher's head. Bowsher seemed to be trying to let his husky opponent wear himself out.

BOWSHER ON OFFENSIVE

At the start of the second round Bowsher came back at the top of the go and hurled his dynamite blows into Papke with such rapidity that for a time it looked like the Lima boy would put his rival to sleep.

When the third round started, Bowsher continued his ferocious attack and had Papke groggy when a host holding the ropes broke loose. Here Maxwell called time out. It gave Papke a much needed rest and probably saved him from a knockout.

Bowsher easily shaded Papke in the fourth, fifth, sixth and ninth rounds. The seventh and eighth and tenth round an even split.

The Lima middleweight had the breaks against him all thru the encounter. Bowsher declares he will never fight again in Lima, unless he is assured a square deal.

THREE KNOCKOUTS

K. O. Jeakle, Bradner, annexed his ninth consecutive knockout when he kayoed Jimmy Shevlin, Cleveland, in the second round of their scheduled 10-round battle. In the first round Jeakle floored Shevlin for the count of nine and the bell saved him from a knockout then. After the second round started Jeakle waded into Cleveland and soon had him groggy. Shevlin took the count after stopping a vicious jab on the left jaw.

Young Kemple, Lima, outfought and outpointed Bud Say, Delphos, after a smashing preliminary that gave the show a good send-off.

Zekie Looker (Tommy Warren) won the decision over "Wild Bill" Musser. The latter tipped the scales at 205 pounds and Looker weighed 187.

Sailor Grant, Lima, kayoed O. K. Scott, of New London, in the third round of their scheduled six round bout. When the fight started it looked like an even bet, but in the second round Grant's rapid fire hits bewildered his opponent.

BURNS LANDS KAYO

Tommy Burns knocked out Paul Carrino in the third round. They were slated for a six round bout. Carrino is probably better known as "Peck's Bad Boy" in fighting circles. Both are from Lima.

Before the fight Young Hladoo challenged the winner.

Indian Horner, who, it is rumored, will soon be added to Earl Smith's stable of fighters, challenged Jeakle to a fight. Horner fought Jeakle last summer in Shelby and earned a draw.

The biggest crowd that has witnessed a fight here in the past two years turned out for the card last night. The balcony was almost filled and two-thirds of the lower floor seats were occupied.

WILL YOUNG BOB FITZ EQUAL DEEDS OF FAMOUS DAD?

(BY BILLY EVANS.)
Is young Bob Fitzsimmons going to be a chip of the old block? Every fistic fan who has seen the old gladiator in action, or read of his many valorous deeds, knows what that means.

Bob Fitzsimmons is dead, but his fistic deeds will live on forever. No greater fighter at his weight ever lived. He feared no man. Even when he held the heavyweight title he was a legitimate middleweight.

"The bigger they are, the harder they fall." It was the late Bob Fitzsimmons who coined that phrase, and lived up to it. He was finally beaten by the younger and stronger Jeffries. Father Time had considerable to do with each knock-out suffered at the hands of the giant Jeffries. However, in one of the bouts, the old fellow handed Jeffries a terrific lacing before he was knocked out.

Some weeks ago one Fay Keiser gained fame over night, by soundly trouncing Bob Martin, who was being groomed to meet Jack Dempsey. It was a big surprise to the fistic world. A few weeks later, lovers of boxing were treated to another upset, young Bob Fitzsimmons, son of old Bob, decisively beat Keiser. The victory won much praise for the youngster.

Young Bob Fitzsimmons is a clean cut good looking chap. A certain critic in discussing the youngster, said he was much better looking than his dad. That is hardly fair to young Bob, as the old fellow had no more claim to beauty than has Nick Albrook, and Nick admits he is no matinee idol. Any one who saw old Bob in action will readily recall the funny legs, the sea of freckles and the bald head.

Fitzsimmons' greatest asset was his hitting power. "Rudy Robert" figured he could defeat any fighter he could hit, and he usually managed to hit 'em. His hands finally went bad on him, but before they turned to chalk, Bob carried a knockout punch in either hand that had only to travel a few inches to turn the trick.

Strangely enough, young Bob seems to lack the thing that made his father famous, the sleep-producing wallop. Young Bob is perhaps more scientific than his dad was in his prime, but the old "kayo" seems lacking. In this respect nature appears to have played a peculiar prank.

Ohio State And Illinois Ready For Big Battle

COLUMBUS, Wis., Oct. 10.—The odds favor of the Buckeyes for the first time in several years, Ohio State and Illinois were ready for their annual gridiron battle here today.

Altho the Buckeyes were picked as winners, traditional rivalry between the two schools was expected to bring forth almost superhuman efforts on the part of the Illini in an attempt to break a losing streak which has continued through their conference season.

EXPECT RECORD CROWD

The largest crowd of the season, including General Armando Diaz, commander-in-chief of the Italian army, was expected to attend the game. All seats have been sold out for more than a week, only standing room remaining to be purchased at the gates shortly before game time.

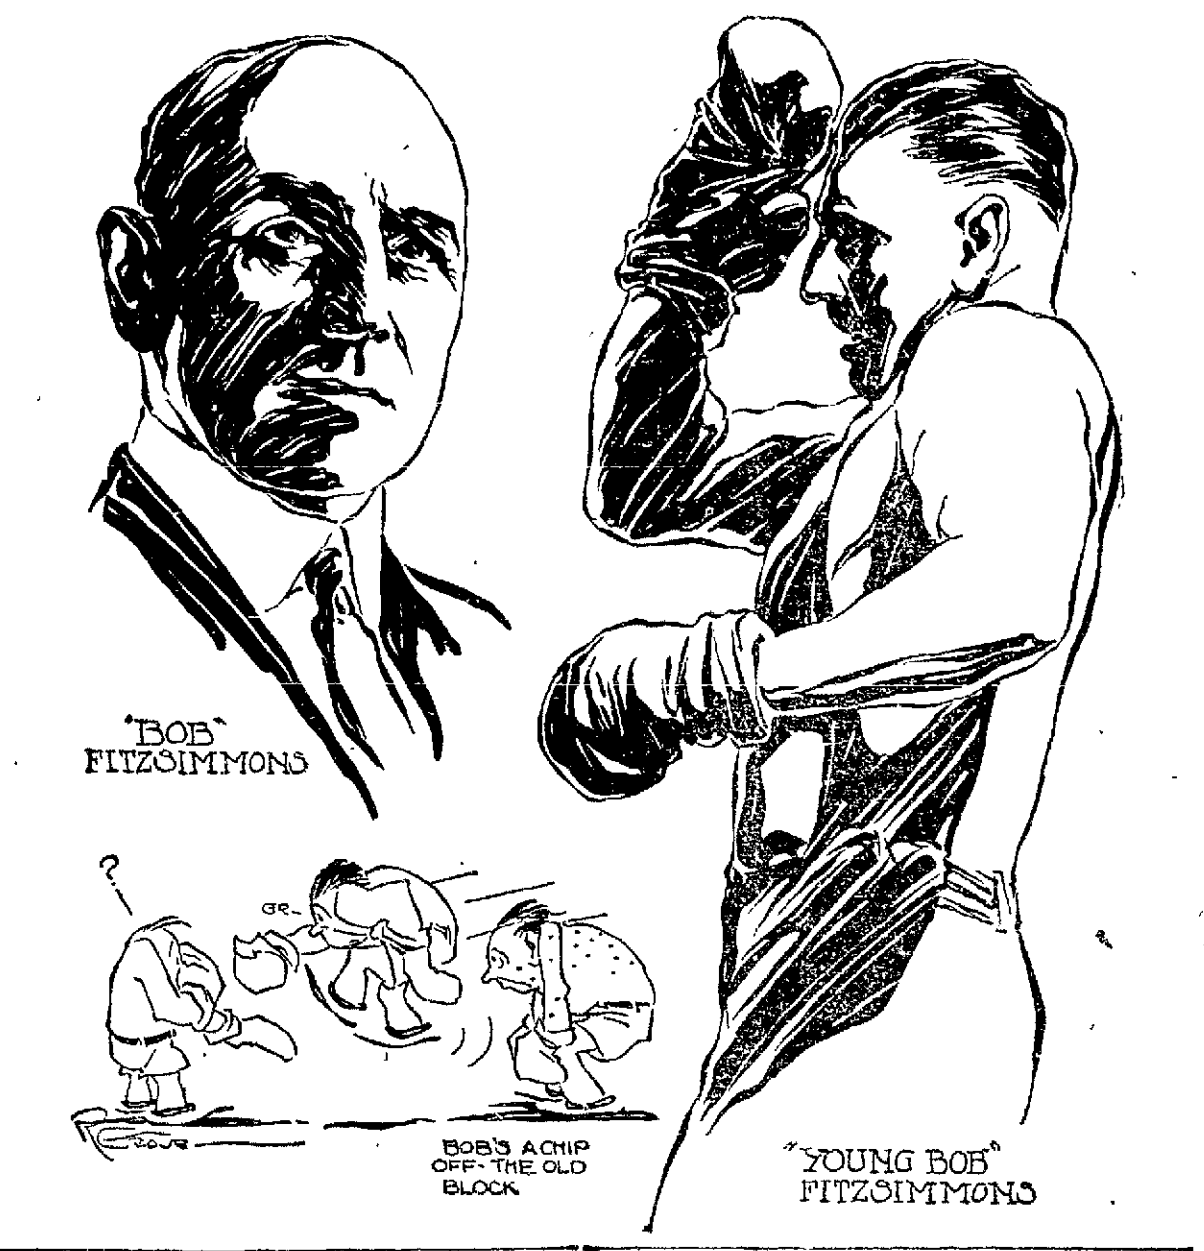

Coach Wilce of the Buckeyes announced today that all of his men were in excellent condition and that his regular lineup would start the game.

STARS UNAVAILABLE

Altho several of his most valuable men are unavailable because of early season injuries, Bob Zuppke, the Illini's mentor declared he would send on the field the same team which gave Chicago a terrific battle a week ago.

Altho special efforts had been made to put the gridiron in shape for the game, indications were that the field would be very muddy. The probable lineup:

Ohio State	Illinois

Ohio State May Claim Big Ten Championship Over Iowa Eleven

COLUMBUS—If Ohio State defeats Illinois and Iowa defeats Northwestern in their final games of the season Saturday, the Buckeyes will claim the 1921 championship of the Western Conference.

Unless defeated today, both Iowa and Ohio State will have won every conference game played this season.

HAVE THEIR VIEWS

Despite the tie, Ohio State will claim the championship because it won the 1920 championship. The claim is made that the 1920 championship will be retained in view of the fact that Ohio State was not defeated this season by a Big Ten team.

Another reason for the Buckeye claim to the championship this year is that Iowa defeated only one conference team, while all of the teams defeated by Ohio State finished in the first division, in the conference percentage standing.

On the other hand, some critics are claiming the championship for Iowa, because of Ohio State's defeat early in the season by Oberlin, a non-conference team.

HOW ABOUT IT?

If Ohio State does the expected and defeats Illinois, the Buckeyes will have a record of having defeated Minnesota, Michigan, Chicago, Purdue and Illinois this year. Iowa will have a record of having defeated Northwestern, Indiana, Purdue and Illinois, the four teams at the bottom of the conference percentage column.

Neither Iowa nor Ohio State played Wisconsin, but Ohio State defeated Michigan 14 to 0, and Michigan in turn held Wisconsin to a tie score.

Chicago Hopes To Break Jinx

CHICAGO—Chicago, in its game with Wisconsin, hoped to break the spell of an apparent jinx which has caused the team to lose the final game of the season for the last seven years. Of these the Badgers took three.

An added uncertainty as to the outcome of the game was the heavy condition of the field, soaked by almost 24 hours of continuous rain.

The advantage of weight in the Chicago line was somewhat offset by greater experience of the Wisconsin forwards.

The highest crowd that ever attended the stadium is expected.
